Chapter 1 by Lex

Aeris used to be one of the most feared beings in all the land. Any who knew his name knew that he wasn't a force to be reckoned with. Aeris was a being of pure fear and rage, he fed on other people's depression and sadness, their despair all of it was turned into anger and hatred. He caused so much heartbreak and chaos.

Aeris simply sets one foot down and anyone around him is overcome with their deepest feelings of hatred, regret, any solid judgement becomes clouded and overshadowed by whatever thoughts caused them so much pain.

It had been so many years since Aeris was seen in Earth Realm, because decades ago we sent brave warriors to battle for our safety and we thought they had defeated him but they were wrong. They merely wounded him enough that his stable form was too far gone to be repaired. It took him centuries to recover a new form and when he did, he set out for earth realm to exact his revenge.

Chapter 2 by Harlander

All of his power could be summed up in one word: Revenge. The one word he held dear.

Chapter 3 by Margo Renati

The howling wind blew around his tall, lithe form. Aeris stood at the edge of the Canyon, looking down at the bottom of the large pit. Aeris followed the missing peoples cases to the Xans where the Sulfur Brothers, a pair of rowdy Xandwellers who enjoyed the taste of fresh human flesh. Aeris flicked his hood from his spiky, silver hair; there was no point in concealing his identity, no one would recognize him in the never-ending desert. He unconsciously touched the scar underneath his right eye, 3 vertical lines that ran from the top of his cheek to his philtrum.

"Let's go, Eric. The bridge is being infiltrated."

"Come on, little bro, Dad will be fine."

Aeris flicked his eyes to the left; there stood two figures covered in tan robes carrying a brown package. Aeris ducked down and took a pair of binoculars from his brown satchel. He took the binoculars through his eyes and examined the two people who were trespassing on Vene grounds. He mentally calculated how many minutes it would take for one of the Vene worms to reach their current position. The Vene were large worm-like creatures who lived underground and hunted from dusk until dawn. The two lovely men were currently standing in the Gobi hunting grounds occupied by close to 300 Vene worms. It's currently 3.6 kiloseconds from dawn.

Chapter 4 by Lex

Present Day~

The soft pats of my bare feet on the floor and his subtle snoring was all that could be heard as I slipped my way from between his sheets and stepped into the bathroom. I closed the door behind me and flipped the light-switch, the cold tile sent shivers up my spine and the luminescent lights nearly blinded me as I looked at myself in the wide mirror. I ran my hand through the silver tresses of hair that fell past my shoulders pushed it back out of my face with a quiet sigh, I swept back the shower curtain and gave the knob to the shower a push to the left and the water cascaded from the ceiling where the showerhead was embedded, almost like rainwater. I slipped out of my clothes and let it all fall to the floor in a small pile where I stood successful businessman and had his way all of the time, getting what he wanted no matter the cost and I was just his new personal stylist. You'd think he would even attempt to keep our relationship strictly professional, but he hit on me on my first day. Of course I didn't mind, how could I? He was tall, about 6'4 - I was a mere 5'8- and he had gorgeous facial features, defined brows, a sharp jawline, structured cheekbones, he had stunning eyes the grey color of the clouds when it rains, and hair dark as night, he had that popular cut all the men did these days; shaved sides and a long semi-curls at the top, messy just how I loved it. He could just look at me and it would send chills all throughout my body, it was like my nerves were shot and I was paralyzed by his gaze, I would do whatever he asked, whenever he asked. We shared many late nights in the office, we travelled all over together, we grew close, and no one questioned our relationship for fear of angering Lucian, I fell in love with him and he fell in love with me, but I discovered Lucian had a dark secret.

If I told you this secret, you'd never believe me, especially seeing as how I'm still with him, but the truth is, Lucian isn't human and I'm more than okay with that. See I never felt like I fit in with other people, all my life I kept to myself and never made many friends, at school or at jobs, but once I worked for Lucian it all changed. I felt an instant attraction, a bond only we shared, and we became connected. See, Lucian is from the underworld, a demon, who once ruled over the land, until he was betrayed, attacked, defeated, banished, and forgotten he might as well have been dead. He disappeared for centuries until reappearing on earth just a few decades ago, he's been travelling in search of three things, the ones who stole his throne, his bride, and of course, his throne. He has found two of these three things, two of his assassins, and his bride; me. I understood him in ways no living creature ever had, and he admired that about me, so he asked me to be his mate, for life, and seeing as how he's thousands of years old, he has made me as he is, immortal, eternally beautiful, and we seek vengeance, so that he may reclaim his throne.
